About the Trust

The Summerfield Charitable Trust was established by Ronald Summerfield, a Cheltenham antique dealer, shortly before his death in 1989. The Trustees have discretion as to which charitable uses to apply the funds.

In 2004 £376,215 was distributed in a total of 71 grants, from £500 upwards. A copy of the latest Trust accounts is available upon request.

Charities applying to the Trust must either be based in Gloucestershire or they must be engaged in a project that is of specific benefit to residents of the county.

VIEWED ESPECIALLY FAVOURABLY ARE:

- Arts projects;
- the needs of those living in rural areas;
- ventures which make a point of using volunteers (and which train volunteers);
- joint appeals from groups working in similar areas, who wish to develop a partnership; and
- those who are promoting excellence in a given field.

PREFERENCE IS GIVEN TO:

- Applicants who show clear indications that they have assessed the impact of their projects upon the environment;
- schemes that indicate planning for long-term self-sufficiency;
- projects that demonstrate active involvement with the beneficiaries;

The Trustees prefer to award one-off grants to help fund specific projects, rather than to make payments for revenue items.

Individuals are only very rarely supported, students being more likely to find favour than those with other needs. They must be residents of Gloucestershire.

Trustees request individuals to use a specialist charity to sponsor their application.

Donations are not given to:

- medical research;
- private education;
- animal welfare appeals;
- funding trips abroad.

Procedure – The Trustees meet quarterly, usually in January, April, July, and October to consider all applications received prior to the deadline date (5th December, 5th March, 5th June and 5th September).

Applicants should write to me stating in their own words what is required and why.

Please note a Grant Application Cover Sheet should be completed and returned before an application can be submitted.

Applicants are welcome to telephone and discuss applications with me before submission.

It helps if grant seekers say which other trusts they are approaching: we may consult them (or members of our informal panel of advisers) about any applications we receive, unless applicants specifically write to request us not to.

I aim to inform applicants of the Trustees' decisions as soon as possible after their meetings.

All appropriate new applications are acknowledged: stamped addressed envelopes are welcomed. Please note we do not accept faxed or emailed applications.

Introduction

During 2004 the Summerfield Trust donated £376,215 to a wide variety of good causes. In line with our stated policy these grants were made exclusively to beneficiaries based in Gloucestershire. In this booklet there is a detailed analysis of the grants, and this highlights the varying sizes of the grants.

Our overall level of grant giving increased in 2004 from its level in the previous year, and to some extent this reflects the improvement in the value of our investments. We continue to encourage as diverse a range of applicants as possible, and we are keen to be involved in projects that are imaginative, and to which we can make a significant contribution. The range of our grants remains considerable with the largest being for £150,000 over 5 years, and the smallest being for £169.

We continued to give substantial support to the Arts, and during the year we gave £50,000 to Stroud Valleys Artspace for them to develop a site in the town for use as artists' studios, workshops, and exhibition space.

We paid the final tranche of a five-year grant towards the salary of Professor Bill Slee, Director of the Countryside & Community Research Unit at the University of Gloucestershire. This research unit has a clear mission “to guide and influence rural change, through rigorous and theoretically sound research ... emphasising sustainable development, local distinctiveness and inclusive processes”.

We were also pleased to make a grant of £10,000 to the Nelson House Recovery Trust to help establish a treatment house for women who are recovering from drug and alcohol addictions.

We do regular spot check evaluations on grants which we have made in previous years to ensure that they have been properly and effectively utilised. Last year we evaluated 24 grants which had been made in 2002. It was pleasing to see how effective, and appreciated, these grants had been. A number of charities commented on the help which they had received from the Trust, and this is a reflection of the excellent work done by our Administrator, Lavinia Sidgwick, and our Secretary, Tracey Price.

We try to hold some of our Trustee meetings on the sites of charities which we have supported in the past. During 2004 we did this at the excellent Cinderford Artspace, and at the remarkable National Star College.

The trustees are greatly helped in assessing applications by our team of volunteer advisers. We sadly report on the death of Dr John Saunders, a gifted musician and a very able adviser. We welcome four new advisers to our team: Anthony Boden, Sharon Isaacs, Anthea Massey and Richard Owen.

As always I would like to thank my fellow Trustees who continue to give up an astonishing amount of their time, on an entirely voluntary basis, to the Summerfield Trust. They help to make Gloucestershire a better place.
